Blaine Community Theater Board of Directors

Loriena Bobb - Leila

Loriena hopes you have a delicious time at “The Good Deli.” Starting at the end of 2019, she’s enjoyed the times with BCT in “Pirates of Penzance” water balloon performances. Have fun getting “Tupita” out of your mind.

Rachel Sullivan – Fortune, Townie

Rachel has come a long way since her first BCT show, where she had to dodge tomatoes while pregnant. She has been a dominatrix in a previous stage life, so being a stripper feels like a promotion. Most of her time behind the scenes and on the boards has been at the Bellingham Theatre Guild and she is happy to bits to come play up North with old friends and new ones.

Nick McDonald - Director

Nick McDonald is a battle hardened theatrical director and technical designer, and serves as the production manager for BCT. He has OTD—obsessive theatre disorder—and believes that if he doesn’t work on at least three productions a year The Great Raven will devour the moon and the tah-tah-kle’-ah will emerge from their underground nests and feed on humanity like cattle.

Jacob Hall – Light & Sound Operator

This is Jacob’s first time doing tech for BCT. You may have seen him previously in “Wyrd Sisters” or “Hard-Boiled Eggnog.” He looks forward to many more shows with BCT in the future.

Donovan McDonald – Stage Crew

Donovan started theater in 2019 with the BCT Halloween show “The Witches.” Since then, he’s become more sarcastic, more antisocial, and slightly better at theatrics.

Ramsey (or sometimes Rowen) McDonald – Stage Crew

Ramsey volunteered for the box office primarily for the cookies at intermission. He’s been promoted to backstage and doesn’t meet the age recommendation for this show. Sometimes he makes his little sister do his job.

Gayle Staker – Strip Dance Choreographer

Gayle has been a professional, award-winning performer, choreographer, instructor, and more for dance, theater, film, and shenanigans for over 20 years. She is currently in the Seattle area, but is willing to drive hours to support BCT as often as possible.

CAST & CREW BIOS:

Mikael R. Kenoyer - Julia

Mikael was never a Playboy Bunny, and she is not related to Justin Bieber, Abraham Lincoln, or Elvis. Her Washington State Bar Association number is entirely fabricated. She isn't homeless, she's just involved in her community.

Sandy Brewer - Wilford

Sandy has a speaking role (after BCT'S "Hard-Boiled Eggnog" wherein he revived his character of an Army Master Sergeant, without lines). For those who've seen BCT's shows lately, they probably had confirmed what they want to know about him. For the others, he just wants you to know that he is NOT really Wilford Tyson, though there may be a lot of resemblances.

Michelle Parker - Dana

"The Good Deli" is Michelle's second show. Her first was BCT's Fall '22 production of "Wyrd Sisters," in which she played Granny Weatherwax. She is a nursing instructor at Whatcom Community College.

David Schrengohst - Max

After seeing "Hard-Boiled Eggnog," David wanted to get involved with BCT. This is his debut production.

Derrick White - Peter

You may remember Derrick as the loathsome Sir Danvers Carew in BCT's "Jekyll & Hyde."

. In addition to a gaggle of shows at The Claire in Lynden, he has also appeared in Bellingham and on Radio Theater Project in Mt. Vernon. He lives with his family in Blaine.
